Sonia Payes

Australia

Sonia Payes' artistic practice is based in Melbourne, Australia, where she continually pushes the boundaries between photography, sculptural work, and new media. Her work explores the narrative of humanity's impact on the landscape and environment and the resulting resilience and capacity of the everchanging world to adapt and grow.

As a modern alchemist, Sonia Payes is confronting the challenge of restoring balance in our relationship with our host planet. Bringing together her photographic work and the sculptural work that has developed from it, she documents the impact of human intervention on the planet and provides a vision of a possible future.
